

Teaching Practice GAP MAP

What are your core beliefs? These should be things you truly believe about learning, students, and school and should come from your heart... not your job description.

Describe current practices - what actually happens in your classroom or school related to each belief?

What are the gaps that you notice between your beliefs and your current practices? Try to identify at least three.

List one or two small, doable steps you can take to bring your practice into closer alignment with your beliefs.

A thought to tuck in your pocket: If someone walked into your classroom or school tomorrow, would they be able to see what you believe?
